Denver Strike Called Off; Troops Arrive

CAR BARNS IS SCENE OF FATAL CLASH

Total Casualties in Strike Riot 5 Dead, 50 Wounded

WALKOUT CALLED OFF

American Legion Volunteers Aid Police in Fight on Strikers

BULLETIN
(By the Associated Press)

DENVER, Colo.—Striking tramway trainmen at a meeting today voted to call off their strike if the company will permit them to return to work in a body and send the strike breakers out of town. Wayne C. Williams, counsel for the union, was instructed to confer with company officials and report to a meeting of the men at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Attorney Williams, for the men, announced in court that the strike had been called off by a vote of 997 to 3, "under certain conditions." He said he would take up these conditions with city and company officials this afternoon.

Judge Whitford said he would defer sentence until Monday to see if the union officials "really meant to call off the strike in accordance with the court's order to do so."

Three More Killed

DENVER—Two hundred soldiers under Col. C. C. Ballou arrived here early today to maintain order just as leaders of the tramway men's union voted to recommend calling off the street car men's strike which has been followed by two days of violence resulting in the deaths of three men and the wounding of a dozen persons last night.

The tramwaymen were to meet at 9 o'clock this morning to take a vote on the recommendation of their executive committee. Gov. Shoup in a statement at Colorado Springs, said that the action of the union leaders would not serve to halt the arrival of troops. Five hundred more soldiers were under orders at Camp Funston, to leave early today.

In a statement issued shortly after the announcement of the union leaders, Frederick W. Hild, general manager of the tramway company, announced that the the striking carmen would be taken back but that there would be no working agreement with the union and the union would not be recognized. The statement further declared that preference in filling vacancies would be given to strike-breakers.

Barns Attacked.

The call for troops was issued last night when a mob attacked the East Denver carbarns and was repelled with rifle fire. Three men were killed and a dozen persons including women, girls and boys, were wounded. Several similar gatherings had been broken up earlier in the evening by the police with the assistance of volunteers recruited from American Legion members.

The leader of the strike-breakers at the East Denver car barns declared the shooting there was caused by attacks of the mob on an automobile load of strike-breakers who were arriving at the barns. Rocks and bricks were hurled at the car and the men in the car barns replied with rifle fire. Hundreds of persons in the neighborhood were attracted by the firing and four children, two girls and two boys, and a woman, were among those struck by bullets.

5 Dead; 50 Injured.

The rioting last night brought the casualties resulting from the strike disturbances to five dead and 50 known injured. Heavy property loss to the tramway company and the Denver Post also resulted.

Henry Silberg, president of the union, was informed of Mr. Hild's condition, and his only comment was, "I wish he had reserved this statement. It will make our task harder."

Seven members of the union composing the executive committee in charge of the strike were convicted of contempt of court yesterday and ordered to call off the strike. The charges were based on the calling of a strike in face of an injunction issued by Judge Greeley W. Whitford in district court. They were to be sentenced today, action of the union heads in recommending that the strike order be cancelled to have a hearing on the sentence, Judge Whitford announced.

Bury Indians

2,000 to Attend Services for War Victims; Blaine to Speak.

RESERVE, Wis.—The bodies of two Indian soldier boys, the first to be returned from France, will be buried from the Catholic church here Tuesday morning. This ceremony will be an imposing one. It is estimated that over 2,000 Indians will be present to witness the burial scene.

A number of Indians were killed in the war. The two bodies which are the first to be returned are John Cadotte, who died immediately following the armistice in a hospital in France from pneumonia and exposure, and William George, who died in Coblenz some time afterward. Both boys were attached to Co. D, 107th Ammunition train, 32nd division.

Officiating at the services will be Rev. Philip Gordon, who for the past two years has been in charge of the Indians on the Lac Court Oreilles and the Lac du Flambeau reservation. He has upwards of 3,000 Indians in his congregation.

John J. Blaine, Boscobel, present attorney general and a candidate for governor, was invited by the Indians to speak at the military funeral. Blaine has accepted and is expected to arrive in Reserve early Tuesday morning. The invitation to Mr. Blaine was extended by relatives of the families of the two deceased Indian boys.

RELATIVES SUED FOR $95,000 BY U. W. GRADUATE

Enoch Garvin Charges Alienation of Wife's Affections in New York

MILWAUKEE—Charging that his married life has been wrecked and the affections of his wife so alienated from him that she is now preparing to sue him for divorce, Enoch B. Garvin, former student at the University of Wisconsin, now living in New York, filed suit in circuit court asking $95,000 damages from his mother-in-law, father-in-law and his five brothers and sisters-in-law.

Garvin charges that his father-in-law and mother-in-law, Spencer and Mary Case, together with their children wilfully conspired against Garvin in order that their daughter and sister Lucy, his wife, was turned against him to such an extent that she left for "somewheres" in Minnesota, and, according to his belief is preparing to start action for a divorce.

The alleged alienation of affections started in 1911 shortly after the marriage of Garvin and Lucy Case, who were students at the University of Wisconsin, according to the complaint. They were married at West Allis Sept. 8, 1911. Following their marriage they went to New York where they have continued to live.

WORK ON ROADS GOOD IS REPORT

The second quarter of this year is one of the best in history recorded by the highway commission, although there has been the handicap of inability to obtain materials. Maintainance work is improving the average conditions of roads, even if proper construction has not been possible. Investigations of local supplies are being conducted by the commission. The question of transportation has become so grave that soon road contractors may have to develop local pits and quarries or shut down operations.

ALLIES MEET ON HALTING RED ONRUSH

Millerand and George to Consider Sending Armed Forces

POLES ANSWER NOTE

Willing to Meet Russians in Armistice Confab; Ask Guarantees

BULLETIN.
(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN—Strong drafts of French artillery have been arriving in Upper Silesia by way of Szecho-Slovakia, and ammunition trains are rolling into the province in quick succession, according to the Breslau correspondent of the Zwoelfuhrblatt. The working men, it is declared, are in a state of great excitement, believing that France intends to use Upper Silesia as a base for a relief expedition to Poland.

Allies in Conference.

PARIS—Premier Millerand will leave at 7:30 o'clock tonight for Hythe, England, where he will confer with Premier Lloyd George relative to the Polish situation. Marshal Foch will accompany the premier.

Military aid for Poland, consisting of one or two divisions each from France, Great Britain, Hungary, Rumania, Letvia and possibly other nations, is one of the emergency measures to be discussed by the two premiers.

This plan as well as other measures, has been recommended by the French and British missions at Warsaw. It has been pointed out that Hungary, particularly, can send good cavalry into the field. All these divisions it is understood, would be fully equipped, and it has been proposed that these reinforcements take the field before Warsaw to defend the capital of Poland.

French official circles, according to the foreign office consider the front line now shifted from Poland to Berlin, in view of the speech of Dr. Simons, the German foreign minister, in the Reichstag on Thursday. It is believed in French quarters, it was stated, that Germany is undertaking the reconstruction of German industries, such as the railway under an agreement with the soviet government, but it was not thought that any treaty existed going beyond such cooperation.

The French military experts in Warsaw reported the military situation unchanged.

The Polish delegates empowered to negotiate peace were expected to reach Minsk tonight, it was stated.

Poles Reply to Russia

WARSAW — Essentials of the terms of peace Poland would agree to were set forth in the note sent by wireless to Moscow Thursday night accepting the soviet proposal to send delegates to Minsk to negotiate simultaneously an armistice and peace.

The note declared that Poland was compelled, however, to demand formal guarantees that the Polish delegates would be permitted free and direct communication with the Polish government by wire and carriers. The government also said that, because of the fact that the soviet had previously refused to negotiate an armistice, hostilities should now cease on both sides from the moment of the beginning of the negotiations at Minsk.

The Poles were ready to conclude peace on the principle of national rights and would try for such a solution of all questions as would guarantee future peace and friendly relations between Russia and her neighbors.

The Polish foreign office has sent a note to the allies and a special note to the United States on the actual political situation, it was learned today.

MOVIE MEN TO CONVENE HERE

Madison Selected as First Convention Place of State Body

About 500 delegates from all parts of the state are expected to attend the first annual convention of the Wisconsin Motion Picture Exhibitors' association, to be held here some time in May of next year.

The association, newly organized last week in Milwaukee, is a branch of the National Motion Picture Theater Owners' association. The latter body will hold its convention in Minneapolis next June, and the Madison meeting of the state organization will precede the national convention by 30 days.

Selection of Madison as the first meeting place of the state movie men was achieved through the efforts of F. J. McWilliams of the Grand theater, who, with Arthur Desormeaux of the Strand, attended the organization meeting in Milwaukee. Mr. McWilliams was the temporary chairman of the meeting.

As soon as the organization gets under way, it is planned to hold quarterly meetings in various cities of the state in the effort to secure the co-operation of movie men in Wisconsin towns. The first quarterly meeting will be held in Green Bay in October, and the second will be held in Marshall.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE FLAYS G. O. P. OLIGARCHY IN HOT ACCEPTANCE SPEECH TODAY

Throng at Ceremonies Hear Governor Condemn Opposition, Evade Liquor Issue, Boost Woman Suffrage and Rap Profiteers

(By the Associated Press)

DAYTON, O.—Peace for America and the world by this nation's entrance into the League of Nations with "interpretations" not disturbing its vital principle was pronounced today by Gov. James M. Cox, the democratic presidential standard bearer, as his paramount policy.

In his address here accepting the democratic nomination, Gov. Cox militantly championed the league as proposed by Pres. Wilson, with interpretations insuring good faith and understanding, and denounced what he termed the dishonorable proposal from Sen. Harding, his republican opponent, for "a separate peace with Germany."

Thousands Attend

A half holiday was in force at Dayton for the ceremonies this afternoon at the Montgomery county fair grounds, about a mile from the center of the city. The fair grounds tossed decorations of flags, bunting and banners, with gilt shields and evergreen. Lithographed pictures of Gov. Cox by thousands were on display. Seats for about 4,000 were provided in the flag-decked amphitheater and special auxiliary grandstands.

Marching delegations swept thorugh the streets, with blaring bands, long before the hours, one o'clock set for the formal parade to the fair grounds, for review by Gov. Cox and other party notables.

The formal program at the grounds was brief, except for the acceptance address of Gov. Cox and the notification speech of Senator Robinson of Arkansas, heading the notification committee. J. Sprigg McMahon, local democratic leader and close friend of Gov. Cox, was the presiding officer. Clergy selected for the invocation and benediction, respectively, were the Rev. William A. Hale of the Reformed church and the Rev. Martin P. Neville of Holy Angels' Roman Catholic church here.

Flays Opposition

His opposition—candidate, platform, leaders and congressional record—were flayed by Gov. Cox in scathing terms throughout his long address. A "Senatorial oligarchy" led by Senators Lodge, Penrose and Smoot, Gov. Cox charged, selected Sen. Harding to lead the republicans and fastened "into the party platform the creed of bitterness and hate and the vacillating policy that possesses it." The republican stand, generally, was scored by the governor as reactionary and, on the league question, he said the party's candidate was bent to the irreconcilable hostility of Sen. Johnson of California. The republican Congress, the governor asserted, failed to pass a constructive law or to reduce war taxes.

Millions in campaign funds have been gathered for "the reactionary cause," the governor charged, deploring election of a new administration "under corrupt auspices" and demanding publicity for "the plain truth" regarding all contributions and disbursements. The democrats, he added, would not attempt "to compete by dollars." He warned the country against "cunning devices backed by unlimited prodigal expenditures . . . to confuse and lure."

League is Big Issue

League or no league, the democratic nominee declared, is the issue between the two parties—"the supreme issue of the century," he said.

"The question is," Gov. Cox declared, "whether we shall or shall not join in this practical and humane movement. President Wilson . . . entered the league in our name. Senator Harding, as the republican candidate for the presidency pro-

"THE SUPREME ISSUE"

League or no League, the democratic nominee declared, is the issue between the two parties—"the supreme issue of the century," he said.

"The question is," Gov. Cox declared, "whether we shall or shall NOT join in this practical and humane movement. President Wilson . . . entered the League in our name. Senator Harding, as the republican candidate for the presidency proposes in plain words that we remain out of it. As the democratic candidate I favor going in.

"The first duty of the new administration will be ratification of the treaty," Gov. Cox said, predicting that friends of the League would rally to elect a senate with the requisite majority for ratification.

Investigations Into His Death Continue; Trace Down Rumors

The Estate of Herman Singer, State-street barber, into whose mysterious death a sweeping investigation is being made by Special Prosecutor Harry Sauthoff, was admitted to probate yesterday by Judge Zimmerman.

Singer left property worth $17,000. Of this $4,000 was in personal property and $7,000 in real estate. His home at 215 N. Lake st. was valued at $6,000, and he left debts amounting to about $3,000 which includes a mortgage on the home.

Mrs. Helen Singer, the widow, petitioned the court for her appointment as administratrix on the ground that her husband left a business on State street which must be kept going. As the deceased man left no will, the estate will probably go to Mrs. Singer.

John Doe proceedings in the investigation were continued in superior court this morning, and every rumor is being traced down in the hope of getting a clue to the possible murderer of Singer. Mr. Sauthoff declared this morning that the same proceedings will be continued for some days.

9,185 SCHOOL CHILDREN HERE

More Facilities for Pupils Badly Needed Says Prof. Skinner

Approximately 9,185 students will enroll in the city schools this autumn, according to figures just completed by John Moran, secretary of the board of education. Last year the enrollment was 8,753. Compilations are not yet so advanced as to show the number of girls and the number of boys. All school census takers, with the exception of those of the tenth ward, have reported, so it is believed that there may be a slight addition to the expected number.

The apportionment of the state last year was $3.55 per capita, amounting to $31,073.15 for the city of Madison. This year, basing the estimate on a school census of 9,185, the state aid will be about $36,280.75, with a per capita apportionment of $3.95, according to C. P. Cary, state superintendent of public instruction.

In addition to the state aid, the county board is required by law to appropriate the same sum per capita as was given by the state last year. This year the county will appropriate $31,073.15.

With a constantly increasing attendance, the school board is facing one of the most serious problems it has ever had to deal with, said Prof. E. B. Skinner.

"The present high school building was built to accommodate 900, or at most 1,000, pupils. During the year 1919-20 the enrollment in the high school was 1,493, or about 50 per cent more than the capacity of the buildings. During the same period there were 137 freshmen in the Randall school and about 300 in all classes in the Wisconsin high school, making a total of about 1,900 high school pupils for the city. This is nearly 50 per 1,000 population.

"In view of these facts, the line of action for the school board will be clear. A junior high school will be started next year in the Hawthorne building, not to relieve the crowded condition in the central high school, but to prevent further overcrowding. This school will comprise seventh, eighth and ninth grade pupils and will have an estimated attendance of 215."

$3,116,000 IN VEHICLE TAXES

State Nets Big Sum in Tax on Motors, Report Shows

Secretary of State Merlin Hull has compiled statistics as to the amount received for motor vehicle licenses for the year ending June 30, 1920. The total amount received was $3,116,220.75.

The cost of administration was $106,753.37, which includes the items of $23,583.59 for postage, $10,277.57 for printing, and $43,884.48 for license plates, the remainder of the amount for administration being expended for wages, stationery, travelling expenses of inspectors, express, freight and miscellaneous.

Of the balance of the fund, 25 per cent is apportioned to the counties for high purposes, amounting to $752,366.84. The remainder, or 75 per cent, is apportioned to the highway commission for state highway purposes in the amount of $2,257,100.54.

The county paying the largest portion of the amount was Milwaukee—$452,453.00. The next highest was Dane—$147,470. The smallest amount received was from Florence county, $2,700.

In the apportionment of 25 per cent to the counties, Milwaukee received $109,631.47, Dane $35,732.67, Rock $23,320.61, other counties also receiving the same percentage of the amount paid in. The smallest apportionment was to Florence county, being $654.22.

Mr. Hull estimates that the coming year will show still larger increases in the amount of motor vehicle receipts. Thus far this calendar year licenses have been issued for 265,306 automobiles, 15,146 trucks, 7,434 motor vehicles and 1,894 dealers. New registrations are still coming in at the rate of about 10,000 per month, indicating that motor vehicles are still being purchased in large numbers by Wisconsin citizens.

THOMPSON IS HEARD BY 6,000

Kewaunee and Green Counties Give "Jim" Big Reception

(Special)

DE PERE, Wis.—Crowds aggregating 6,000 people, farmers, businessmen and workingmen, heard James Thompson, progressive republican candidate for United States senator today in Kewaunee and Green Lake counties, showing in every case the same splendid enthusiasm at the plea to turn out the old guard in both parties and elect men of progress and reform next fall. "Big Jim's" unmerciful exposure of the way in which the people have been made the tool of big business and the appeal to clean house quick; to end the "Christmas festival at Wall street," met favor everywhere. His message was taken as intended—a truly progressive and constructive way out of the misery and unrest now prevalent in this country.

At Algoma two speeches were made, one to 500 farmers and business men at 10 a. m., and another to an equal number of workingmen in the furniture factories at noon. More than 600 heard him at Luxemburg and about 4,000 were assembled at the corner of Georgia and Broadway streets when Mayor Elmer S. Hall, Green Bay, progressive candidate for secretary of state, introduced Thompson tonight at De Pere.

It is probable that a special meeting will be arranged at Sturgeon Bay Sunday afternoon and then resume the trip westward across the state Monday from Shawano where Thompson will speak Saturday.

BUSTER BROWN TO APPEAR AT SHOE MEN'S CONVENTION

One of the features of the Wisconsin Shoe Retailers' convention, being held here next week, will be the appearance of Buster Brown and his dog Tige.

This popular pair will be a visitor at the following stores: At the Hub Clothing Co., Wednesday morning between 10 and 11 o'clock, and at Gleue Bros. Inc., Gay Bldg., Thursday morning between 9 and 10 o'clock; and at Huegel & Hyland, King st., between 10 and 11 o'clock Thursday morning.

Buster Brown and his dog came to Madison from St. Louis, the home of the Brown Shoe Co., makers of children's Buster Brown shoes. Buster will have souvenirs for every boy and girl that will come and visit him.

Seventy-five big exhibits will be displayed on the first and second floors of the capitol.

The entertainment program tentatively arranged at the last meeting includes boat rides on lake Mendota, an entertainment at the Madison high school, and a picnic dance at Monona park.

Fully 700 delegates are expected to attend the convention.

Names of Louisiana Boys Visiting Here Sounds Like War Roll Call

Belgium, Holland, Spain, France Represented in Ancestry; Boys to Inspect College of Agriculture

A delegation of 125 Louisiana boys who have won championships in boys' club work will arrive in Madison on a special Northwestern train of six cars at 12:30 this noon. The boys will visit the university, particularly the college of agriculture.

The delegation is touring the farming states in the middle west. Besides visiting the university, they will have an opportunity to see stock farms at various points in this state.

The names of the Louisiana farm boys sounds like calling the roll of a mixed company of Yanks and Poilus in the Chateau Thierry sector. Many of them are of French parentage, tracing their lineage back to the days before the Louisiana purchase when New Orleans and much of the state was a French settlement.

Beside the French, there are many other colonies in the sections from which the touring lads come that trace back only a few years to Belgium, Holland, Spain, Italy and other foreign countries. Near Alexandria, La., is a settlement of Belgians who have been in Louisiana scarce 15 years, but who have piled up big wealth from farming the rich bottom lands. Italians are making much money as truck farmers. And there are a great many farmers now in the state who formerly lived in the "corn belt." Illinois especially is well represented, as is the case in the rich delta portions of Mississippi and Arkansas.

The Louisiana boys for the most part never have been outside their state before. The present trip started Aug. 3 from Baton Rouge.

The delegation leaves Madison at 6:30 a. m. tomorrow, going to Monroe.

T. L. Bewick, director of boys' club work in this state will conduct the visitors around the university. The boys hope to see and learn things on their whirlwind pilgrimage and then go back home to help develop and cultivate their state of rich lands so that it will become as well known as states in the so-called corn belt.

COX ASSAILS LEAGUE FOES

poses in plain words that we remain out of it. As the democratic candidate I favor going in.

"The first duty of the new administration will be ratification of the treaty," Gov. Cox said, predicting that friends of the league would rally to elect a senate with the requisite majority for ratifications.

The prohibition amendment and Volstead Law were not specified in the address, but Gov. Cox promised emphatically strict law enforcement.

Constitution is Limit

"The constitution," he said, "is the license and limitation given to and placed upon the lawmaking body. The legislative branch of government is subjected to the rule of the majority. The public official who wails to enforce the law is an enemy both to the constitution and to the American principle of majority rule. It would seem unnecessary for any candidate for the presidency to say that he does not intend to violate his oath of office. Anyone who is false to that oath is more unworthy than the law violator himself.

"Morals cannot easily be produced by statute," Gov. Cox continued in passing to a plea against abuse of the writ of injunction.

Regarding woman suffrage, Gov. Cox urged ratification of the proposed constitutional amendment, declaring women "are entitled to the privilege of voting as a matter of right, and because they will be helpful in maintaining wholesome and patriotic policy."

Denounces Profiteering

Discussing domestic questions, Gov. Cox denounced profiteering at length and promised that profiteers should "suffer the penalty of the criminal law."

Fair returns for both capital and labor were advocated, the nominee also approving development of both "into large units . . . without injury to the public interest." Collective bargaining by labor through its own representatives was approved by the governor, who added:

"We should not by law abridge a man's right either to labor or quit his employment. However, neither labor nor capital should . . . take action that would put in jeopardy the public welfare."

Freedom of Speech

Repeal of war laws restricting freedom of speech and assembly and liberty of the press was advocated, together with Americanization of alien residents and extension of education work "without encroachment by the federal government on local control."

Conservation of children by prevention of child labor, adequate pay for government employes, short shift for anarchistic agitators and development of waterway transportation were other affirmative policies the governor enunciated.

"I accept the nomination of our party," he said in conclusion, "obedient to the Divine Sovereign of all peoples, and hopeful that by trust in Him the way will be shown for helpful service."

TRACTORS TO SHOW ECONOMY OF POWER ON BADGER FARMS

Products on View at Demonstration Monday to Impress Value of Tractor in Boosting Crops

The Hart-Parr tractor will be watched with more than usual interest at the tractor show, as it is really a Madison product. The first Hart-Parr tractor was built by two young students at the University of Wisconsin from an idea and lots of enthusiasm. William Hask, superintendent of the concern, says that the principles of the tractor have not been changed materially from the original design. Using either gasoline or petroleum for fuel, this tractor's cost per acre is one of the lowest. The simplicity of the model, its ease of operation, and total cost and upkeep will be demonstrated.

The Doring Sales company of Madison is state distributor for the Minneapolis all-purpose kerosene utility tractor and the Kardell utility tractor. Both machines will be on view at the demonstration Monday. The sales company declares it will make attractive offers to live wires looking for a good opening in the tractor sales business.

The Fordson tractor promises to be one of the interesting exhibits. During the past year the company has received a large number of letters from farmers who report an average increase of from 6 to 10 bushels per acre in wheat due to the use of tractor power. Power farming is more economical, declares the Fordson people, and they want an opportunity to prove it.

The Ridgewood orchards, Winchester, Va., use the Wallis tractor in field work. An accurate record of one year's cost of a Wallis including 6 per cent interest on the cost of the machine, 10 per cent depreciation, shows a total of $411.89. A careful computation of the cost of keeping three horses by this company is $738 per year, clearly showing that a Wallis tractor can be used for general work at half the cost of a three horse team.

The McCormick and Deering lines of farm implements standard then, still retain their superiority, as they are continually improving different products. John Deere tractor for plows from two blow bottoms up are simple and strong. Hilger and Kolschem of Middleton are agents for McCormick and Deere. They also sell the Wisconsin and Case tractors.

BIG POW WOW AT VALLEY JUNCTION

On the arrangement committee are John Hill, chief, 97 years old; W. Green Deer, John Smoke, Henry Waukon, Moose Decorah, Walking Prest, William Sonlagorgah and George Johnson.

STOCK MARKET SHOWS CAUTION

Bear Pressure Exerted Against List of Industrials

NEW YORK—Resume of conditions in the business world by the weekly trade review disclosing a process of readjustment introduced a spirit of caution into the dealings on the stock exchange today. Renewed liquidation of low-priced oils was resumed, especially Invincible. Bear pressure was exerted against a varied list of industrials, including the steels, motors, shippings, equipments, papers and coppers which sustained losses of 1 to 2 points. High priced railroad shares held up well. The more reassuring foreign news was without much effect on exchange quotations, sterling yielding while some of the other remittances were higher. Thec losing was easy. The total sales approximated 225,000 shares.

WHEAT PRICES BREAK SHARPLY

Unexpected Rains Cause of Slump on Quotations

CHICAGO—Unexpected rains in Illinois and other states over night caused a sharp break in wheat prices at the opening of the market today. At the start initial quotations were off 4½c to 5½c with Dec. 2.31 to 2.32 and March 2.33. There was little rallying power displayed, prices for a time hovering about opening figures.

Wheat fluctuated rapidly within a fair range, there being some buying of futures credited to northwestern account. Country offerings to arrive were not large, the car situation being the main influence. The close was nervous with prices 2½ to 4c lower, with Dec. 2.32¼@2.33 and March 2.35½.

Corn.

Corn followed the course of wheat, opening prices ranging from 1⅜c to 3⅜c net lower with Sept. 1.44 to 1.45 and Dec. 1.24 to 1.25. The trade became active on the way down when liquidation got under way. Some stop orders were caught on the decline but fair support developed from shorts and commission houses which caused a rally.

Corn rallied sharply toward the close because a local trader who was a big seller yesterday was credited with free buying, especially the September option. The close was weak, however, with prices 1½ to 3⅜ under yesterday's final figure, with Sept. 1.46½@1.46⅞ and Dec. 1.23⅜@1.24⅛.

Oats

Oats declined in sympathy with other grains, starting 1½c to 1⅝c lower with Sept. 72⅜ to 73c and Dec. 70½s to 71c. Buying against bids soon became a factor in checking the decline.

Provisions

Provisions were weaker and lower with grains.

DENY TAKING CAR WITHOUT CONSENT

Earl Smith and Orin Schribner of this city, who were brought back yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Krug from Portage, where they were caught with a Buick car loaned them by William Holsworth several days ago, pleaded not guilty this morning to the charge of taking an auto without the consent of the owner. Both were released on $500 bail and their case was continued.

Holsworth claims that he only loaned them the car on the condition that they keep it only a couple of hours and not take it out of the city.

BIG CROWD HEARS JOHN J. BLAINE AT MANITOWOC

MANITOWOC—John J. Blaine, progressive republican candidate for governor, faced a record breaking crowd here last night. A parade marched through the streets to the square where Mr. Blaine delivered his address. It is perhaps the largest crowd which has faced Mr. Blaine on his trip through the lake shore counties. The crowd was so large that Mr. Blaine's voice was unable to penetrate to the outer limits.

Mr. Blaine denounced Wilson's sheik as a sham, and said that taxes should be paid by those best able to pay. He denounced the Esch-Cummins railroad law as a crime and disgrace.

Cox Defines League Issue As Battle Ground In The Coming Campaign

SENATORIAL CABAL IS NOT LOYAL, CLAIM

Lodge, Penrose and Smoot Flayed as Conspirators

Hot attacks on the opposition party, especially on the republican stand on the League of Nations issue, featured the acceptance speech of Governor Cox.

"In the midst of war the present senatorial cabal, led by Senators Lodge, Penrose and Smoot, was formed," he said. "Superficial evidence of loyalty to the president were deliberate in order that the great rank and file of their party, faithful and patriotic to the very core, might not be offended. But underneath this misleading exterior, conspirators planned and plotted, with bigoted zeal. With victory to our arms they delayed and obstructed the works of peace."

The speech in part follows:

CHAIRMAN ROBINSON, and members of the Notification committee: The message which you bring from the great conference of progressive thought assembled under the formal auspices of the Democratic party inspires within me a pride and an appreciation which I cannot voice. At the same time I am mindful of the responsibility which this function now officially places upon me. As I measure my own limitations the task ahead of us should be approached with more than a feeling of diffidence if I were not strengthened and reassured by the faith that one has only to practice true fidelity to conscience. It is not the difficult thing to know what we ought to do; the sense of right and wrong has been given with Divine equality. The mistakes of history are the result of weakness in the face of tempting interests. I thank God, therefore, that I take up the standard of Democracy a free man, unfettered by promises and happy in the consciousness of untrammeled opportunity to render a service in the name of government that will hold for it the confidence which it deserves.

We are in a time which calls for straight thinking, straight talking and straight acting. This is no time for wobbling. Never in all our history has more been done for government. Never was sacrifice more sublime.

"Platform Is Clear"

It is not necessary to read and reread the Democratic platform to know its meaning. It is a document clear in its analysis of conditions and plain in the pledge of service made to the public. It carries honesty of word and intent. Proud of the leadership and acievement of the party in war, Democracy faces unafraid the problems of peace. Indeed, its pronouncement has but to be read along with the platform framed by Republican leaders in order that both spirit and purpose as they dominate the opposing organizations may be contrasted.

On the one hand we see pride expressed in the nation's glory and a promise of service easily understood. On the other a captious, unhappy spirit and the treatment of subjects vital to the present and the future, in terms that have completely confused the public mind. It was clear that the senatorial oligarchy had been given its own way in the selection of the presidential candidate, but it was surprising that it was able to fasten into the party platform the creed of hate and bitterness and the vacillating policy that possesses it.

In the midst of war the present senatorial cabal, led by Senators Lodge, Penrose and Smoot, was formed. Superficial evidence of loyalty to the president was deliberate in order that the great rank and file of their party, faithful and patriotic to the very core, might not be offended. But underneath this misleading exterior, conspirators planned and plotted, with bigoted zeal. With victory to our arms they delayed and obstructed the works of peace. It deemed useful to the work in hand no artifice for interfering with our constitutional peace-making authority was rejected. Before the country knew, yea, before these men themselves knew the details of the composite plan, formed at the peace table, they declared their opposition to it. Before the treaty was submitted to the senate in the manner the Constitution provides, they violated every custom and every consideration of decency by presenting a copy of the document, procured unblushingly from enemy hands, and passed it into the printed records of senatorial proceedings. From that hour dated the enterprise of throwing the whole subject into a technical discussion, in order that the public might be confused. The plan has never changed in its objective, but the method has. At the outset there was the careful insistence that there was no desire to interfere with the principle evolved and formalized at Versailles. Later, it was the form and not the substance that professedly inspired attack. But pretense was futile when proposals later came forth that clearly emasculated the basic principle of the whole peace plan. It is not necessary to recall the details of the controversy in the senate. Senator Lodge finally crystallized his ideas into what were known as the Lodge reservations, and when congress adjourned these reservations held the support of the so-called regular Republican leaders.

"Political Expediency"

From that time the processes have been interesting. Political expediency in its truest sense dwarfed every consideration either of the public interest or of the maintenance of the honor of a great political party. The exclusive question was how to avoid a rupture in the Republican organization. The country received with interest, to say the least, the announcement from Chicago, where the national convention was assembled, that a platform plank, dealing with the subject of world peace, had been drawn, leaving out the Lodge reservations, and yet remaining agreeable to all interests, meaning thereby, the Lodge reservationists, the mild reservationists and the group of Republican senators that openly opposed the League of Nations in any form.

As the platform made no definite commital of policy and was, in fact, so artfully phrased as to make almost any deduction possible, it passed through the convention with practical unanimity. Senator Johnson, however, whose position has been consistent and whose opposition to the league in any shape is well known, withheld his support of the convention's choice until the candidate had stated the meaning of the platform, and announced definitely the policy that would be his, if elected.

The Republican candidate has spoken and his utterance calls forth the following approval from Senator Johnson:

"Yesterday in his speech of acceptance Senator Harding unequivocally took his stand upon the paramount issue in this campaign—the League of Nations. The Republican party stands committed by its platform. Its standard-bearer has now accentuated that platform. There can be no misunderstanding his words."

Senator Harding, as the candidate of the party, and Senator Johnson are as one on this question, and, as the latter expresses it, the Republican party is committed both by platform in the abstract and by its candidate in specification. The threatened revolt among leaders of the party is averted, but the minority position as expressed in the senate prevails as that of the party. In short, principle, as avowed in support of the Lodge reservations, or of the so-called mild reservations, has been surrendered to expediency.

Senator Harding makes this new pledge of policy in behalf of his party:

"I promise you formal and effective peace so quickly as a Republican congress can pass its declaration for a Republican executive to sign."

This means but one thing—a separate peace with Germany!

"Would be Disheartening"

This would be the most disheartening event in civilization since the Russians made their separate peace with Germany, and infinitely more unworthy on our part than it was on that of the Russians. They were threatened with starvation and revolution had swept their country. In good faith we pledged our strength with our associates for the enforcement of terms upon offending powers, and now it is suggested that this be withdrawn. Suppose Germany, recognizing the first break in the Allies, proposes something we cannot accept. Does Senator Harding intend to send an army to Germany to press her to our terms? Certainly the allied army could not be expected to render aid. If, on the other hand, Germany should accept the chance we offered of breaking the bond it would be for the express purpose of insuring a German-American alliance, recognizing that the allies—in fact, no nation in good standing—would have anything to do with either of us.

This plan would not only be a piece of bungling diplomacy, but plain, unadulterated dishonesty, as well.

Quotes Senator Lodge

No less an authority than Senator Lodge said, before the heat of recent controversy, that to make peace except in company with the Allies would "brand us everlastingly with dishonor and bring ruin to us."

And then after peace is made with Germany, Senator Harding would, he says, "hopefully approach the nations of Europe and of the earth, proposing that understanding which makes us a willing participant in the consecration of nations to a new relationship."

In short, America, refusing to enter the League of Nations (now already established by twenty-nine nations) and bearing and deserving the contempt of the world, would submit an entirely new project. This act would either be regarded as arrant madness or attempted international bosiism.

The plain truth is, that the Republican leaders, obsessed with a determination to win the presidential election, have attempted to satisfy too many divergent views. Inconsistencies, inevitable under the circumstances, rise to haunt them on every hand, and they find themselves arrayed in public thought at least, against a great principle. More than that, their conduct is opposed to the idealism upon which their party prospered in other days.

Illustrating these observations by concrete facts, let it be remembered that those now inveighing against an interest in affairs outside of America criticised President Wilson in measured terms for not resenting the invasion of Belgium in 1914. They term the League of Nations a military alliance, which, except for their opposition, would envelop our country, when, as a matter of truth, the subject of a League of Nations has claimed the best thought of America for years, and the League to Enforce Peace was presided over by so distinguished a Republican as Ex-President Taft, who, before audiences in every section advocated the principle and the plan of the plan of the present League. They charge experimentation, when we have as historical precedent the Monroe Doctrine, which is the very essence of Article X of the Versailles covenant. Skeptics viewed Monroe's mandate with alarm, predicting recurrent wars in defense of Central and South American states, whose guardians they alleged we need not be. And yet not a shot has been fired in almost one hundred years in preserving sovereign rights on this hemisphere. They hypocritically claim that the League of Nations will result in our boys being drawn into military service, but they fail to realize that every high school youngster in the land knows that no treaty can override our Constitution, which reserves to Congress, and to Congress alone, the power to declare war. They preach Americanism with a meaning of their own invention, and artfully appeal to a selfish and provincial spirit, forgetting that Lincoln fought a war over the purely moral question of slavery, and that McKinley broke the fetters of our boundary lines, spoke the freedom of Cuba, and carried the torch of American idealism to the benighted Philippines. They lose memory of Garfield's prophecy that America, under the blessings of God-given opportunity, would by her moral leadership and co-operation become a Messiah among the nations of the earth. * * *

The first duty of the new administration clearly will be the ratification of the treaty. The matter should be approached without thought of the bitterness of the past. The public verdict will have been rendered, and I am confident that the friends of world peace as it will be promoted by the League, will have in numbers the constitutional requisite to favorable senatorial action. The captious may say that our platform reference to reservations is vague and indefinite. It meaning, in brief, is that we shall state our interpretation of the covenant as a matter of good faith to our associates and as a precaution against any misunderstanding in the future. The point is, that after the people shall have spoken, the League will be in the hands of its friends in the Senate and a safe index as to what they will do is supplied by what reservations they have proposed in the past. * *

Domestic Problems

We have domestic problems to be settled. They are most pressing. Many conditions growing out of the war will not and should not continue. The work of reajustment will call for our best energy, ingenuity, unselfishness, and devotion to the idea that it is the general welfare we must promote. One of the first things to be done is the repeal of war taxes. The entry of America into the world war projected our people into an unparalleled financial emergency, which was faced with a determination to make every sacrifice necessary to victory. Billions in liberty loans subscribed by patriots regardless of their financial condition were instantly placed at the disposal of the government, and other billions were gladly paid into the treasury through many forms of taxation. To have paid by current taxes more than one-third of the expense of the greatest war in the history of mankind, is a reflection on the high sense of national duty with which we of America view the obligations of this generation. Immediately following the armistice, measures to modify onerous and annoying taxation should have been taken and the Republican congress in which all tax laws must originate, and which for almost two years has exclusively held the power to ameliorate this condition, has not made a single effort or passed a single law to lift from the American people a load of war taxation that cannot be tolerated in a time of peace. Federal taxation must be heavily reduced, and it will be done at once, if a Democratic administration is chosen in November. Without hampering essential national administrative departments, by the elimination of all others and strict economy everywhere, national taxes can be reduced in excess of two billion dollars yearly. Annoying consumption taxes, once willingly borne, now unjustified, should be repealed.

Tax Reform

The incomes from war-made fortunes, those of non-producers and those derived from industries that exist by unfair privilege may be able to carry their present load, but taxes on the earnings of the wage-earner, of the salaried and professional man, of the agricultural producer and of the small tradesman should be sharply modified. I believe that a better form of taxation than the so-called excess profits tax may be found and I suggest a small tax, probably one to one and one-half per cent on the total business of every going concern. It is to be understood, that the term "business" as used does not include income received by wage-earners, salaried men, agriculturists and the small business man who should be exempt from this tax. The profiteer and some of the highly capitalized units have used the excess profits tax as a favorite excuse for loading on the consumer by means of highly inflated selling prices many times the amount actually paid the government. A necessary condition to the national contentment and sound business is a just proportion between fair profits to business and fair prices to the consumer.

It is unquestioned that the enormous expansion of public and private credit made necessary as a part of war financing, the diversion of the products of many industries from their usual channels, as well as the disturbance to general business caused by the withdrawal of millions of men from producing fields, all contributed to the rise in prices. Reversion of these various agencies to a more stable condition will tend toward a recession in the enormously inflated present prices of many commodities and property values and there are now evidences that a sane adjustment is not far distant. Deep patriotic sentiment enthralled our people during the war and slight attention was given to the enormous economic changes that were then in progress and when observed these changes were generally accepted as one of the trials necessary to be endured and they were submerged in the thought and purpose for victory. While millions of free men, regardless of wealth or condition, were giving of their blood and substance, many corporations and men seized the very hour that civilization lay prostrate to secure for themselves fortunes wrung from the public and from the government, by the levying of prices that were in many cases a crime. Under present taxation laws much capital is drawing out of industry and finding investment in non-taxable securities. This will cease if the changes suggested are made.

In the analysis of government, as the events of today enable us to penetrate the subject, we see the difference between the old and the progressive kinds of thinking. The belief of the reactionaries is that government should not function more widely than it did in the past, but they seem to forget that the fundamental of our plan is equal rights for all and special privileges for none. Modern life has developed new problems. Civilization continues to build along the same basic lines and altruistic as we may all be disposed to be, the fact remains that except for the exchange of products between individuals, commercial units and nations, our development would be slow. All of this growth goes on under the protection of and with the encouragement of government. The least therefore, that might be rendered unto government for this continuous service is a policy of fair-dealing. Too often the genius of man prompts him to play for governmental advantage, and the success which has been achieved in this particular, has led to the formation of groups which seek this very advantage. We are a busy people, preoccupied in too large degree with purely commercial considerations, and we have not recognized as we should, that the failure of government to prevent inequalities has made it possible for mischevious spirits to develop prejudice against the institutions of government, rather than against administrative policy. There is a very important difference here.

Profiteering

This difference bears directly on profiteering, which is today the most sinister influence in American life. It is not a new thing in America. The tribe of profiteers has simply multiplied under the favoring circumstances of war. For years, large contributions have been made to the Republican campaign fund for no purpose except to buy a governmental underhold, and to make illegal profits as the result of preference. Such largesses are today a greater menace to our contentment and our institutions than the countless temporary profiteers who are making a mockery of honest business, but who can live and fatten only in time of disturbed prices. If I am called to serve as president means will be found, if they do not already exist, for compelling these exceptions to the great mass of square dealing American business men, to use the same yardstick of honesty that governs most of us in our dealings with our fellowmen, or in language that they may understand, to suffer the penalty of criminal law.

There is another reason for the fabulous contribution to the present Republican campaign fund. Much money, of course, has been subscribed in proper partisan zeal, but the great bulk has been given with the definite idea of gaining service in return. Many captains of industry, guided by a most dangerous industrial philosophy, believe that in controversy between employer and employe their will should be enforced, even at the point of the bayonet. I speak knowingly. I have passed through many serious industrial troubles. I know something of their psychology, the stages through which they pass, and the dangerous attempts that are sometimes made to end them. Disputes between labor and capital are inevitable. The disposition to gain the best bargain possible characterizes the whole field of exchange, whether it be product for product, or labor for money. If strikes are prolonged public opinion always settles them. Public opinion should determine results in America. Public opinion is the most interesting characteristic of a democracy, and it is the real safety valve to the institutions of a free government. It may, at times, be necessary for government to inquire into the facts of a tie-up, but facts and not conclusions should be submitted. The determining form of unprejudiced thought will do the rest. During this process, governmental agencies must give a vigilant eye to the protection of life and property, and maintain firmness but absolute impartiality. This is always the real test, but if official conduct combines courage and fairness, our governmental institutions come out of these affairs untarnished by distrust. This is not an academic observation. It is the mere recital of experience. Unrest has been reinforced in no small degree by the great mass of unassimilated aliens. Attracted by an unprecedented demand for labor, they have come to our shores by the thousands. As they have become acquainted with the customs and opportunities of American life, thousands of them have become citizens and are owners of their own homes. However, the work of assimilation too long was merely automatic. One million six hundred thousand foreign born in this country cannot read or write our language. Unfamiliar with law, having no understanding of the principles of our government, they have fallen as easy prey to unpatriotic and designing persons. Public opinion has had no influence upon them, because they have been isolated from the currents of opinion, all due to their not being able to read or write our language. It is the duty of the federal government to stimulate the work of Americanization on the part of church, school, community agencies, state governments and industry itself. In the past, many industries that have suffered from chronic restlessness have been the chief contributors to their own troubles. The foreigner with European standards of living, was welcomed, but too often no attempt was made to educate him to domestic ideals, for the simple reason that it adversely affected the ledger. It has been my observation that the man who learns our language, yields to a controlling public opinion and respects our laws; besides, in proportion as his devotion to American life develops, his interest in the impulsive processes of revolution diminishes. We must be patient in the work of assimilation and studiously avoid oppressive measures in the face of mere evidence of misunderstanding. We have a composite nation. The Almighty doubtless intended it to be such.

Free Speech

We will not, however, develop patriotism unless we demonstrate the difference between despotism and democracy. The necessity for the drastic laws of war days is not present now, and we should return at the earliest opportunity, to the statutory provisions passed in times of peace for the general welfare. There is no condition now that warrants any infringement on the right of free speech and assembly nor on the liberty of the press. The greatest measure of individual freedom consistent with the safety of our institutions should be given. Excessive regulation causes manifestations that compel restraint. The police power, therefore, is called to action because the legislative authority acted unwisely. * * *

Injunctions

Morals cannot easily be produced by statute. The writ of injunction should not be abused. Intended as a safeguard to person and property, it could easily by abuse cease to be the protective device it was intended to be.

Capital develops into large units without violence to public sentiment or injury to public interest—the same principle should not be denied to labor. Collective bargaining through the means of representatives selected by the employer and employe respectively, will be helpful, rather than harmful to the general interest. Besides, there is no ethical objection that can be raised to it. We should not, by law, abridge a man's right either to labor or to quit his employment. However, neither labor nor capital should at any time or in any circumstances, take action that would put in jeopardy the public welfare.

We need a definite and precise statement of policy as to what business man and workingmen may do and may not do by way of combination and collective action. The law is now so nebulous that it almost turns upon the economic predelictions of the judge or jury. This does not make for confidence in the courts nor respect for the laws, nor for a healthy activity in production and distribution. There surely will be found ways by which co-operation may be encouraged without the destruction of enterprise. The rules of business should be made more certain so that on a stable basis, men may move with confidence.

Government, however should provide the means in the treatment of its employes, to keep in touch with conditions and to rectify wrong. It is needless to say that in order to be consistent, facts should at all times justify the pre-supposition that the government employes are properly compensated.

The child life of the nation should be conserved; if labor in immature years is permitted by one generation, it is practicing unfairness to the next.

Agriculture

Agriculture is but another form of industry. In fact, it is the basis of industry because upon it depends the food supply. The drift from countryside into the city, carries disquieting portents. If our growth in manufacturing in the next few years holds its present momentum, it will be necessary for America to import foodstuff. It therefore devolves upon government, through intensive scientific co-operation to help in maintaining as nearly as possible the existing balance between food production and consumption. Farming will not inspire individual effort unless profits, all things considered, are equal to those in other activities. An additional check to depleted ranks in the fields would be the establishment of modern state rural school codes. The federal government should maintain active sponsorship of this. Rural parents would be lacking in the element which makes civilization enduring if they did not desire for their children educational opportunities comparable to those in the cities. The price the consumer pays for foodstuffs is no indication of what the producer receives. There are too many turnovers between the two. Society and government, particularly local and state, have been remiss in not modernizing local marketing facilities. Municipalities must in large measure interest themselves in, if not directly control community markets. This is a matter of such importance that the federal government can profitably expend money and effort in helping to evolve methods and to show their virtues. * * *

Tenantry

Our objective should be a decreased tenantry. With the period of occupancy uncertain, the renter strips land of its fertile elements, and each year diminishes our national assets. Under the operation of the Federal Reserve and the Farm Loan acts, encouragement has come to thousands who find that industry, character and intelligence are a golden security to the people's banker, the government of the United States. Multiply our home owners, and you will make the way of the seditious agitator more difficult. Bring into the picture of American life more families, happily a part of garden and flowers all their own, and you will find new streams running into the national current of patriotism. Help to equalize the burdens of taxation by making the holders of hidden wealth pay their share with those whose property is in sight. * * *

Transportation

Any discussion of the question of food supply leads very quickly to the closely related matter of transportation. There is no one thing which brings us so intermittently to critical conditions than the insufficiency of our transportation facilities. Both the railroads and the public are to blame. There has been no material addition to the total mileage in the last ten years, and the mileage in terminals has been much less than required. At the beginning of the war, the rolling stock was sadly reduced and inadequate. The public had not given in pay for service, sufficient revenues on which credit could be allowed by the banks. Moral assistance was withheld because of railroad policies that did not bring approval. Many of these corporations had made themselves a part of political activities, local, state and national. Then there were more or less sporadic instances of stock-watering operations, and the exploitation of utility properties for personal gain. Abuses were not general, but they were sufficient to bring the entire railroad systems of the country in disrepute. The good suffered with the evil. When the transportation lines were taken over by the government, they were barely able to limp through the task of the day. Unity in operation, the elimination of the long hauls, and the merging of every mile of track and terminal and every car and engine into a coordinate plan of operation, enabled the government to transport troops and supplies, at the same time affording, under great stress, a satisfactory outlet for our industries. It should be remembered in this connection that except for the motor truck which supplemented transportation by rail, and except for the great pipe lines which conveyed oil for commercial purposes, we should not, in all probability have been able to throw our deciding strength into the balance and win the war. Any attempt to discredit the federal operation of railroads during the years of grave emergency is unfair. In the case of those who know the facts it is insincere. Too much cannot be said in praise of those who directed this work, nor of the men who physically operated the lines under the discouraging conditions of poor equipment. But all of this is water over the wheel.

The government and the public should render every co-operation in the utmost good faith, to give thorough test to private ownership. The railroads have had their lesson. Government regulation is accepted now as not only a safeguard to the public, but as a conserving process to the utility. Financial credit is necessary to physical rehabilitation and it should be sufficient for the periods of maximum demand. We should not lose sight, however, of the vast possibilities of supplementary service by water. The Great Lakes and St. Lawrence navigation project, particularly, should claim the interest of the government. * * *

Budget System

Government bureaus during the war had close contact with the business organization of the country. That experience revealed the modern need of reorganization along purely business lines. The advantages of a democracy in government need not be recounted. It has been held by experts that it involves the disadvantage of disbursements, authorized by the law-making power without sufficient knowledge of the need of the service, or of the possibilities of extravagance. The answer to this is the budget system. No successful business enterprise of any size can operate without it. For a hundred years, the federal unit, and the states as well, made appropriations without determining the difference between department need and caprice, at the same time, paying little attention to the relation as between income and expense. Many of the states have adopted a budget system, and with a success that carries no exception. * * *

I am convinced after considerable study of the subject that the expense of the government can, without loss of efficiency, be reduced to a maximum of four billion dollars, including sinking fund and interest on the national debt. When we enter the League of Nations, we should at the same time diminish our cost for armament. To continue expenditures in either the war or the navy departments on a vast scale, once our membership in the League is assured, would seem to be a very definite refutation of the advantages of the world plan which we believe it possesses. An appealing fundamental in the League method, is the reduction of armaments. We cannot afford to do it until other nations do likewise. If we do not enter the League, hundreds of millions of dollars must be spent for armaments. If we go in, and I believe the people will insist on it, then we can count on economies.

The World War

Since the last national conventions of the two great parties, a world war has been fought, historic, unprecedented. For many months, civilization hung in the balance. In the despair of dark hours, it seemed as though a world dictator was inevitable, and that henceforth men and women who had lived in freedom would stand at attention, in the face of the drawn sword of military autocracy. The very soul of America was touched as never before with a fear that our liberties were to be taken away. What America did, needs no reiteration here. And yet there is not a line in the Republican platform that breathes an emotion of pride, or recites our national achievement. How ungenerous, how ungracious all of this is; how unfair that a mere group of leaders should so demean themselves in the name of the party of Lincoln and McKinley and Roosevelt.

The discourtesy to the president is an affair of political intrigue. History will make it odious. As well might it be directed at a wounded soldier of the war. One fell in the trench; the strength of the other was broken in the enormous labors of his office. But others were ignored—the men and women who labored at home with an industry and a skill that words cannot recount! Why the sneer at labor with the veiled charge that it was a mere slacker? The spectacle is sufficient to convince any unprejudiced man that the Republican leaders who have taken charge of their party and nominated its candidate, are no more possessed of the spirit of the hour then they were in 1912 when they precipitated a revolution within the rank and file of a great organization. If further proof were needed, the action of the present congress supplies it. Not a constructive law can be cited. Money and time were wasted in seeking to make a military triumph an odious chapter in history—and yet is it not significant that after two years of sleuthful inquiry, there was nothing revealed in the vast enterprise, carrying billions of dollars in expense, upon which they could base even a whisper of dishonesty?

Mexican Situation

The Mexican situation, trying to our patience for years, begins to show signs of improvement. Not the least of the things that have contributed to it, is a realization by the people of that country, that we have neither the lust for their domain, nor disposition to disturb their sovereign rights. Peace smiles upon the border and incentive to individual effort seems to be making a national aspiration. * * *

Woman Suffrage

The women of America, in emotion and constructive service, measured up during the war to every requirement, and emergency exacted much of them. Their initiative, their enthusiasm, and their sustained industry, which carried many of them to the heavy burdens of toil, form an undying page in the annals of the time, while the touch of the mother heart in camp and hospital, gave a sacred color to the tragic picture that feeble words should not even attempt to portray. They demonstrated not only willingness but capacity. They helped win the war, and they are entitled to a voice in the readjustment now at hand. Their intuition, their sense of the humanitarian in government, their unquestioned, progressive spirit will be helpful in problems that require public judgment.

Therefore they are entitled to the privilege of voting as a matter of right and because they will be helpful, in maintaining wholesome and patriot policy. It requires but one more state to ratify the national amendment, and thus bring a long-delayed justice. I have the same earnest hope as our platform expresses, that some one of the remaining states will promptly take favorable action.

Party Government

Senator Harding's theory of the great office to which he aspires, putting a thoroughly fair interpretation on his own words, is that the government of this country, so far as it is embodied in the executive, should be what he is pleased to call "government by party," as in contrast with the exercise by the president of his own best final judgment under the responsibility assumed by his solemn oath of office, taking into consideration the views of others, of course in arriving at that final judgment, but recognizing no group of any kind, not sworn, as he is, to the faithful performance of the particular duties in question, and not subject to impeachment, as he is, in case of serious malfeasance in the performance of those duties. The latter is the conception of the presidency held by Washington, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson in initiating our great experiment in political and personal freedom under the constitution. It is the conception held by Lincoln and Roosevelt, by Cleveland and Wilson, and all other presidents of the past to whom history has assigned a significant place in the normal growth of our free institutions. It is the conception of the presidency to which, in case of success of the Democrat party in the coming election, my own best efforts shall be dedicated, with a solemn sense of responsibility to the Power above, to the people of the United States as a whole, and to the sacred oath of allegiance to the constitution and the laws.

Education

There must be an awakened interest in education. The assumption that things are all right is an error. There is more or less of a general idea that because our school system generally is satisfactory, and in most instances excellent, that sufficient progress is being made. The plain fact reveals two startling things, one, a growing declination in the ranks of teachers and the other, the existence of five and one-half million illiterates. It is true that 1,600,000 of these are foreign born. The army of instructors has been more or less demoralized through financial temptation from other activities which pay much better. We owe too much to the next generation to be remiss in this matter. Very satisfactory progress is being made in several states in the teaching of native born illiterates. The moonlight school in Kentucky has, in fact, become a historic institution. The practice has spread to other commonwealths, and bands of noble men and women are rendering great service. There should be no encroachment by the federal government on local control. It is the healthful, reasonable individualism of American national life that has enabled the citizens of this republic to think for themselves, and besides, state and community initiative would be impaired by anything approaching dependence. The central government, however, can inventory the possibilities of progressive education, and in helpful manner create an enlarged public interest in this subject.

Slush Funds

There will be no attempt in this campaign to compete by dollars with our opposition. So many people have been in the money-gathering business for the reactionary cause that the millions already in hand are more or less a matter of general information.

All that we ask is that both parties deal in the utmost good faith with the electorate and tell the plain truth as the amounts received, the contributors, and the items of disbursements. The public judgment in elections should be rendered after the fullest hearing possible. Each side has the right to properly present its case. This is a legitimate expense. There is no narrow dividing line between the legitimate and illegitimate in political campaigns. One contemplates the organization and maintenance of such facilities as are necessary to advise the people of the facts bearing upon the issues; the other carries the deliberate purpose to interfere with the honest rendering of a verdict.

How misguided some of our people are. Recognizing that readjustment must be made, they believe that they will fare better if they cast their fortunes with those with whom they dealt on the base of campaign contributions in days gone by. They do not sense the dangers that threaten. The sort of readjustment which will appeal to our self-respect as ultimate to our general prosperity is the honest readjustment. Any unfair adjustment simply delays the ultimate process and we should remember the lesson of history that one extreme usually leads to another. We desire industrial peace. We want our people to have an abiding confidence in government, but no readjustment made under reactionary auspices, will carry with it the confidence of the country. If I were asked to name in these trying days the first essential overshadowing every other consideration, the response would be confidence in the government. It would be nothing less than a calamity if the next administration were elected under corrupt auspices. * * *

The leaders opposed to Democracy promise to put the country "back to normal." This can only mean the so-called normal of former reactionary administrations, the outstanding feature of which was a pittance for farm produce and a small wage for a long day of labor. My vision does not turn backward to the "normal" desired by the senatorial oligarchy, but to a future in which all shall have a normal opportunity to cultivate a higher stature amidst better environment than that of the past. Our view is toward the sunrise of tomorrow with its progress and its eternal promise of better things. The opposition stands in the skyline of the setting sun, looking backward, to the old days of reaction.

I accept the nomination of our party, obedient to the Divine Sovereign of all peoples, and hopeful that by trust in Him the way will be shown for helpful service.

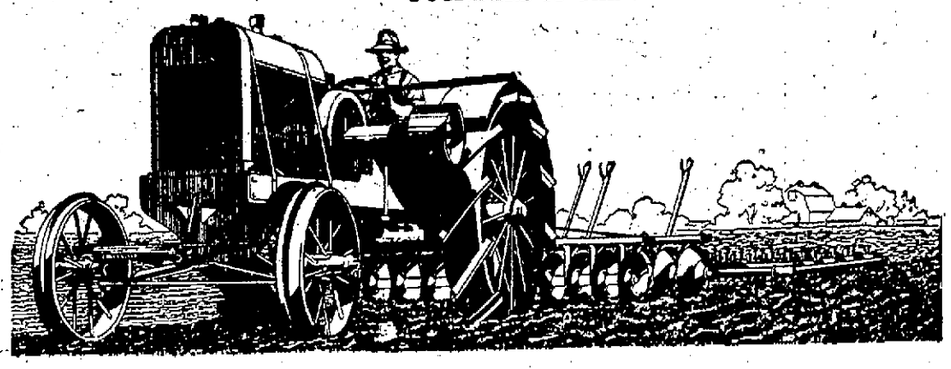
FOUNDERS OF THE TRACTOR INDUSTRY



HOW TO JUDGE A TRACTOR

The best tractor is the one that will give you the biggest day's work for the greatest number of days at the lowest total cost of labor, interest, depreciation and repairs and fuel cost—in other words the MOST POWER FOR THE LONGEST TIME, AT THE LOWEST COST.

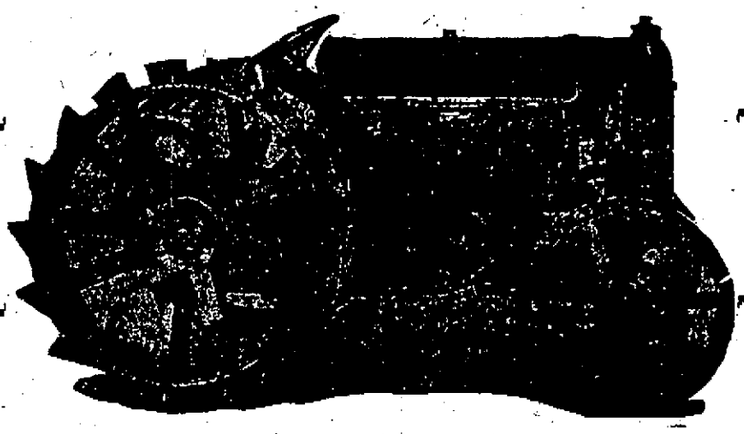
THE FARMERS' POWER PLANT

Attend The Demonstration Aug. 9-10



Attend The Demonstration Aug. 9-10

The Fordson tractor with the proper tools will take the drudge out of farming, and you will be able to do your work in about one-half the time or take care of twice as much land with the same help. By the use of this handy little helper you can not only double your income, but you can also get some of the joy out of life to which we are all entitled.

The "FORDSON" TRACTOR is the result of extensive trials and experiments conducted by Mr. Henry Ford, covering a period of many years. Before placing the tractor on the market, every detail has been thoroughly tried out under actual farming conditions in various parts of this country and abroad. Mr. Ford would not give it to the public until it had met every test. He did the experimenting, not you, Mr. Farmer.

The opponents of this ticket will have outside money, just as they had outside money in the spring campaign when they had corruption funds from Wood, Lowden, and probably others.

The Progressive Committee ran the delegate campaign on $5,059.23, and filed an itemized account of its expenses. THE OPPOSITION HAD $15,000.00 from the outside, which was disclosed by testimony given before a committee of the United States Senate. They no doubt had MUCH MORE from the outside, and unlimited funds from the home guard of WAR PROFITEERS.

We need money for this campaign for postage, printing, advertising, and clerical help. We have no profiteers to squeeze, and it is not fair to let the candidates devote their time and bear all the financial burden alone. We ask those who are interested to contribute their mite. THIS IS YOUR FIGHT; HELP WIN IT. A small contribution from a large number will make the burden light, and victory certain. $100 from each legislative district will spell VICTORY.

DEDICATE FACTORY.

CLINTONVILLE — Clintonville will have a big celebration Saturday to dedicate the big new factory building of the Menominee Truck Co., which is to move its plant here from Menominee, Mich., and the manufacture its trucks in this city. Ole Hanson of Seattle has been secured to give an address on "Americanism" and other events will make the occasion notable.

VOTE AN ARMORY.

CLINTONVILLE—The city council this week decided to put the question of bonding the city to build an armory and community building to a vote of the people at the fall election. The council favors the plan, but desires to get the voters' opinion before acting.

BIG CHEESE OUTPUT.

MARINETTE—D. Basso, of Chicago, owner of three Italian cheese factories in Marinette county, Wis., producing Asiago type cheese exclusively, estimates that the output of his factories for 1920 will be 600,000 pounds of cheese. His product is distributed wholly from Chicago. Last year the output was 361,000 pounds.

WANTS PROPERTY BACK.

MANITOWOC—Miss Sophia Bressler, recently returned from Germany, where she was on a visit when the world war broke out and unable to return to America, and whose property, valued at $3,500 was seized by the alien property custodian, has begun proceedings to have the property restored to her. She was only in Germany on a visit, but was unable to secure passports and return to this country.

PICKLE FACTORIES BOOM.

MARINETTE—Pickle stations in Marinette county, Wis., are now running full blast. The cucumber crop of the county is estimated to be normal and the dill pickel output is assured if the rest of the country does as well. A Chicago concern operating four stations handles more than a majority of the crop. Last year these stations handled 2,100 barrels, or 9,975,000 pickles. Cucumbers are bringing 50 cents a hundredweight for nubs, $2.50 for smalls and $1 for dill size. They make a good cash crop for many farmers, about $150 an acre. One farmer was paid $54.17 for one load of cucumbers on a good day last season.

BILLY WHISKERS

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

When the boy saw Billy, he said: "Oh, papa, there is that beautiful goat again! How I wish I could have him. Of course you can buy me one in America, as you have promised to do, but they say that there are no goats in the world so fine as the Swiss goats, and I am sure that I never saw any so pretty as this one."

The man smiled indulgently at his son and stopped the carriage.

"How much will you take for your goat, my boy?" he asked.

"I don't want to sell him," replied Caspar. "He's my goat and I like him."

Just then Billy tossed his fine head and pranced, daintily lifting his feet.

"See how graceful he is!" exclaimed the boy. "Do buy him, papa."

"I'll give you ten dollars for him," said the gentleman, pulling out his pocketbook.

Caspar caught his breath. It was a great lot of money, too much for a poor boy to refuse. Caspar drew a long sigh and began to slowly unhitch his goat. The driver of the carriage threw him a strap, and with this he tied Billy to the rear axle of the carriage.

Fleabite, as soon as Billy was safely tied, began to caper with joy and to snap at Billy's heels, but Caspar, when the man had paid him his money, grabbed Fleabite and hitched him to the cart. Then he ran up and patted Billy affectionately on the flanks, and the carriage drove away, with Billy following gladly behind in the dust.

Down the village street the carriage rolled until it came to a quaint little Swiss inn, where it turned through a wide gateway that led into a brick-paved courtyard. Here Billy was unfastened from the carriage by a servant and led back of the inn, where he was tied by the strap to a post, while Mr. Brown and his son, Frank, went to their mid-day meal. Billy didn't like to be tiedfi he was not used to it, so he began to chew his strap in two. It was very tough leather, but Billy's teeth were very sharp and strong, and he had it about half gnawed through when a little, lean waiter came from the kitchen across the courtyard, carrying, high up over his head, a great big tray piled with dishes of food. The waiter saw Billy gnawing his strap in two and thought that he ought to keep him from it.

"Stop that, you hammer-headed goat!" he cried and gave Billy a kick.

Billy was not going to stand anything like that, so he gave a mighty jump and the strap parted where he had been gnawing upon it. As soon as the lean waiter saw this he started to run, but, with the heavy tray he was carrying, he could not run very fast and he looked most comical with his apron flopping out behind him and his legs going almost straight up and down in his effort to run and to balance the tray at the same time.

(You will hear what happened to the waiter tomorrow.)

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson:—I am a married woman and have three children. My husband goes away nights and I don't know where. I sit up and wait for him and when he comes home I ask him where he goes and he won't tell me. I don't think he ought to go every night and leave me with the little children.

I do my own work and am saving, but he thinks the bills are too much. Things are so high I can't do any better. He makes good money. I wear plain, neat, clean clothes and try to please him. He is always telling me I don't do things just as his mother did. I don't know how she did things and so what can I do? I am always home and get his meals.

What can a woman do at home to help keep up the expenses when she has children? I am not strong enough to do laundry work. Would it be all right to leave the children by themselves and work in town? My youngest is eight years old. I love my husband and it worries me to have him go away nights.

SUSIE.

It is your right to know where your husband goes when he stays away from home nights, but nevertheless, it is a bad plan to question him. Go to bed when you are ready and don't sit up for him as you have been doing.

Talk has proved useless and so try silence now.

Do not think of helping to keep up expenses. If you do it will only give him more money to spend nights when he is away from you. If you do your own work and raise three children you will certainly be keeping up your end of the matrimonial bargain.

Most married women make their mistake by dressing too old and plain. You need to be pretty and attractive now more than you ever did before. When you were a girl and marriage was ahead of you, you probably dressed in an entirely different way. It is not immodest for a wife to wear pretty clothes. It merely shows good judgment on her part.

As for trying to do things as his mother did, don't give it a thought. Be yourself and ignore his complaints. Probably you have spoiled him by catering to his whims too much. Men don't like independent women, so they say. I believe, however, that independence is woman's salvation. She has as much of a right to be happy as her husband has.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 16 years old and my mother is dead. I am in love with a boy 18 years old and he seems to like me all right, but he has never gone with me yet. He seems to wont to keep company with me, but doesn't know what to do. Please advise me how to get him to keep company with me.

A LONELY GIRL.

It is useless to try to get him to keep company with you. Even the most bashful boy will find some way to be with a girl if he cares enough for her.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am engaged to a young man who wishes to give me presents for my hope chest. Is it proper for me to receive them?

I am 18. Do you think I am too young to get married?

My sister is 15 years old. Is she too young to keep company with boys?

DOTTIE AND KATE.

It is all right to accept presents from your fiance.

I think you are too young to marry. I would advise you to wait two or three years.

Yes, your sister is too young to keep company with boys.

FOR THE TABLE

Harvard Beets—Cook twelve small beets until soft. Dice or slice into a serving dish. Pour over them a sauce made of one-half cup sugar, one-half tablespoon cornstarch, one-half cup vinegar. Boil together five minutes. Add one and one-half tablespoons butter to hot mixture. These, when allowed to stand to absorb the sauce are a splendid relish, invaluable to a bride who has, as yet, no "canned cupboard."

Fruit Salad—One orange, one banana, one apple, one-half cup pineapple (home canned); cut in small pieces and mix; strain pineapple juice and add one tablespoon of dissolved gelatin; sweeten to taste and pour over the fruit. When hard put grated cocoanut or chopped nuts over. Serve with whipped cream.

Summer Squash—Instead of peeling and boiling white squash, cut in sections, remove the seeds and leave the peel on, and bake in the oven. Baste with butter or sweet drippings, and sprinkle with pepper, salt and chopped parsley before serving.

To boil it, peel, remove the seeds, cut in medium-sized pieces, barely cover it with boiling water; and boil until tender. Dry it thoroughly. Mash it through a colander; add a large lump of butter, pepper and salt, and serve. It will require about twenty minutes to boil.

JELLY HINTS

Test for Pectin—If the pectin is less than three-fourths of the whole volume of juice, use less sugar. If the pectin is less than one-half, add some form of pectin to make the jelly, or can the juice for use as a beverage or for flavoring.

When to Add Sugar—If the sugar is added at the first there is less danger of having the sugar crystallize out. Another method is to cook the juice and add the sugar near the end of the process. Possibly the safest way is to add the sugar soon after the juice boils. Although adding the cold sugar stops the boiling for a short time, there is not enough gain in time or resulting product to take the trouble of heating the sugar. Add the sugar gradually to the boiling juice and stir until it is dissolved.

Cooking the Jelly—The juice for jelly should not be allowed to simmer. The cooking should be finished as soon as possible. Long cooking has a tendency to give the finished product a dark color, and the pectin loses some of its jelly making power.

When Jelly Is Done—Take a small amount of the juice in the spoon and cool it by moving the spoon gently in the air and then allowing the juice to drop over the edge of the spoon. At first it will run off like a syrup, then as it cooks the drops will become heavier and when the drops run together and slide off in a flake, the jelly is finished and should be removed at once.

RESIGNS FROM LAWRENCE

APPLETON—Another vacancy in Lawrence college faculty was created when Dr. T. W. B. Crafer, head of the department of sociology for nine years, resigned to become head of the department of economics of the University of Syracuse, Syracuse, N. Y. Dr. Crafer leaves this week to prepare for his new position. His successor has not been selected. An increase in salary of $1,000 a year is involved in the change. Dr. Crafer, who is a recognized authority on international law, has had charge of several classes in politics while at Lawrence and this summer, when the department of politics was created, he was placed in charge. Dr. Frank Conrad was engaged to head the department of sociology.

ARREST AUTO THIEVES

MENOMONIE—In the arrest of two men and the recovery of a stolen car near New Richmond by Sheriff Ludwig Tilleson and Deputy M. C. Swant of Dunn county, it is believed an organization of automobile thieves and bootleggers has been broken up.

EXAMINE TEACHERS.

WATERTOWN—All men and women who plan to teach school in Dodge county next term will be required to take an examination at Juneau, Aug. 16-18, if they have not now a certificate, according to County Superintendent of Schools Kelly.

SPEAKER AND HORNSBY TOP BAT AVERAGES

Babe Ruth Slumps in Hitting Before Tactics of White Sox Pitchers

CHICAGO—The three leading batters in the American league fattened up their averages during the past week but "Babe" Ruth, the home run champion, who is in fourth place, suffered a slump before Dick Kerr in the last game of the series between Chicago and New York. He was at bat five times but connected for only one hit. Tris Speaker, the Cleveland manager who tops the batters, gathered 11 hits in seven games and boosted his mark from .411 to .417, which is 15 points better than that of George Eisler, the St. Louis star, who is the runner-up with an average of .402. Joe Jackson, the slugging outfielder of the Chicago White Sox, is third with a mark of .398, while Ruth is hitting .391. The averages are of players who have participated in 50 or more contests and include games of Wednesday.

Ruth continues to be the sensation of the league. This was evidenced again in the series just played in Chicago between the Yankees and the White Sox. For the four days a crowd officially estimated at 126,000 came out to witness the games with a hope of seeing the big southpaw slugger crack the ball out of the field. Only once during the series was Ruth able to "deliver" on his specialty. That was on the second day when he drove the ball on a line into the right field bleachers for four bases. Claude Williams was pitching and it was the third homer Ruth had collected at his expense. This smash marked Ruth's thirty-eighth home run. Against Faber the following day he was unable to hit, because the game was close and he was ordered passed. In the opening game with Cicotte on the mound Ruth was helpless.

Rice of Washington is far out in front among the base stealers, showing the way with a total of 43 thefts.

Other leading batters: Rice, Washington, .366; E. Collins, Chicago, .364; Meusel, New York, .354; Weaver, Chicago, .341; Hendryx, Boston, .335; Felsch, Chicago, .332; Judge, Washington, .332; Jamieson, Cleveland, .332; Jacobson, St. Louis, .331; Milan, Washington, .326; Cobb, Detroit, .322.

Roger Hornsby of St. Louis continues to head the National league batters who have played in 50 or more games. The St. Louis star knocked out 13 hits in his last six games and boosted his average to .372. J. Smith, a teammate who was the runner-up among the regulars last week, went into a slump and dropped to fifth place with an average of .326, while Nicholson of Pittsburgh came along strong and now is runner-up to Hornsby with an average of .336. Roush of Cincinnati has pulled up into third place with a mark of .333 and Young of New York is holding fourth place with .327.

Hornsby is far in front in total bases with 220, acquired on 148 hits, which include 30 doubles, 13 triples and seven circuit drives.

Cy Williams of Philadelphia bagged a brace of homers in the past week and now tops the circuit drive hitters with 11. Robertson of Chicago is next with eight to his credit.

Max Carey of Pittsburg is setting a hit pace among the base stealers. He is showing the way with 36 thefts, while Roush of Cincinnati has 22 and Neale, another member of the world's champions, has pilferred 20.

Other leading batters: Williams, Philadelphia, .323; Konetchy, Brooklyn, .321; Myers, Brooklyn, .320; Hollocher, Chicago, .318; Stock, St. Louis, .317; Daubert, Cincinnati, .306; Terry, Chicago, .305; E. Smith, New York, .305; Flack, Chicago, .304; Groh, Cincinnati, .303; Merkle, Chicago, .303.

Ben Tincup, the Indian with Louisville, took a bad tumble from his position among the batters of the American Association. From being runner-up to Grover Hartley, of Columbus, last week, the Indian was dropped to eighth place. Hartley also went into a slump. He cracked out only one hit in his last five games and lost 15 points off his averages. However, he still tops the list with a mark of .357. Wilbur Good of Kansas City had a good week with the willow and although he lost a few points from his mark of last week, his batting was superior to the other leaders, and as a result Good went into second place with an average of .340. The averages are of players who played in 50 or more games.

Bunny Brief of Kansas City cracked out three homers in the past week and broke the tie for circuit drive honors shared last week with Hargrave of St. Paul. Brief has bagged 16. Hargrave managed to get one and has 14.

Rapp of St. Paul is pulling away from Dressen, his teammate, in the base-stealing department. Rapp is showing the way with 34 thefts, while his rival has pilferred 29.

Other leading batters: Wickland, Toledo, .338; Rondeau, Minneapolis, .333; W. Miller, Kansas City, .329; Rapp, St. Paul, .327; Butler, Milwaukee, .327; Tincup, Louisville, .323; Wade, Minneapolis, .322; Berghammer, St. Paul, .318.

Indianapolis Driver Has Field Day on Closing Day of Grand Circuit Card

TOLEDO, O.—Lon. McDonald, the Indianapolis driver, enjoyed a field day at the Fort Miami track on getaway day on Friday, winning two out of the three events on the closing card. McDonald headed the list in the 2:06 trot with Baron Cegantle and the 2:20 trot with Dottie Day.

Baron Cegantle, skillfully handled, captured the Steadman sweepstakes from the favorite, Peter Coley, which made bad breaks in the first two heats and then was outtrotted in the final mile while Don De Lopez was piloted out in front by Pop Geers.

Dottie Day, a winner earlier in the week, easily repeated in the 2:20 trot for McDonald, but Baroness Hanover was a contender most of the way.

Most of the horses were shipped Friday morning to North Randall track where they race next week, and the rest left early Friday night.

The summaries:

OLYMPIC ATHLETES THREATEN STRIKE

ON BOARD THE U. S. S. PRINCESS MATOIKA—Discontent among the members of the American Olympic team on board this steamer resulted in the holding today of an indignation meeting at which a committee was appointed to confer with the officials regarding future arrangements.

The officials were severely criticized and it was suggested that the athletes refuse to compete unless the accommodations at the Antwerp schoolhouse where the men are to belodged were better than those on the steamer.

The men demanded also to be informed of the plan for sending a vessel for the return trip, together with an explanation as to how the athletes would get home after landing in New York.

The committee appointed to meet the team officials comprised Norman Ross of Chicago, Patrick J. McDonald of New York, H. J. Hebner of Chicago, Oliver Cory of Los Angeles, and Richard Remer of New York.

Kerr's Bat Wins For Hose; Giants Wallop Cubs Twice; Ruth Hits Brace of Homers

Connie Mack's Kids Trim Indians in Tenth; Reds Give Phillies Drubbing; Braves Rally and Win

RICHARD KERR, commonly known as Wee Dick, made himself more of a hero to Chicago White Sox baseball fans than ever yesterday. Claude Williams started the game against the Red Sox and never let a man reach first base until the seventh. Then two runs came in and the score was tied. The Sox scored in their half and the Boston batters tied it up in the eighth. Then Gleason sent Kerr to the slab and the diminutive hurler was just as good as Williams was at the beginning. In the last of the tenth with Collins on second and two out, with the score three to three, Kerr came to bat and knocked out a two bagger which scored Collins and won the game, 4 to 3.

Yesterday was a bad day for the Chicago Cubs and a good day for the New York Giants. The Giants beat Alexander 5 to 2 in the first game of a double bill and trimmed Tyler 6 to 2 in the second game. The Giants were unbeatable and playing with more spirit than any club in the majors. Play after play of sparkling fielding feats were made by the McGraw crew. Dave Bancroft leading the list with a barehand stop back of third base which the umpires and even the Cub manager admitted was the best play at shortstop they had even seen.

Babe Ruth was the main reason why the New York Yankees defeated the Detroit Tigers, 11 to 7. He hit two more home runs, bringing his total for the year up to forty-one. The first circuit clout came with the bases empty in the third inning, but the second one scored two runners. The Tigers hit Quinn hard and he was removed in the seventh inning.

The Cleveland Indians dropped a game nearer the Yankees and White Sox yesterday when Connie Mack's kids took a 2 to 1 game from them. The Indians with their ace Coveleskie pitching, didn't know how to take the defeat. Rommell let them down with four hits. The Macks knotted the count at one all in the ninth on an error by Chapman and two hits and a sacrifice won the game in the tenth.

The Senators lost a 14 to 7 game to the Browns yesterday mainly because Joe Judge ran out of home run hits. He tied the score twice with the long clouts, but after the sixth inning he couldn't connect and the Browns drove in eight runs in the next two innings.

Ring was in world's series form yesterday and let the Phillies down with an 8 to 2 drubbing. The Phillies had six errors charged up against them. Ring allowed seven hits.

The Boston Braves rallied behind Pitcher Scott in the seventh and drove in seven runs, enough to win the Brave-Card game, 7 to 3. Rabbit Maranville was out of the game, being injured when his automobile hit a tree the night before.

RABBIT MARANVILLE HURT IN AUTO CRASH

BOSTON, Mass.—Walter Maranville, the Boston Nationals' shortshop, and Catcher McCarthy of the St. Louis Nationals were unable to play in today's game at Braves' field because of injuries suffered in an automobile accident last night.

Maranville had taken McCarthy for a spin in his car. While they were riding along a seashore drive another automobile came upon them unexpectedly from a side street. Maranville swerved to avoid a collision and struck a tree. Both men were thrown out. Maranville's head was slightly cut and he was considerably shaken up. McCarthy complained of pains in his back. Arrangements were made today for an X-ray examination for McCarthy.

WELLER TAKES TENNIS MATCH

State Net Champ Wins From Gopher Title Holder in Semi-Finals at Milwaukee

By virtue of one of the most remarkable comebacks ever staged in tournament play, Abbie Weller, present holder of the Wisconsin Tennis association title, defeated Henry Norton, youthful Minneapolis city champ, Friday afternoon, and earned the right to defend his honors acquired last season in the final round of competition which will be held Saturday afternoon at the Town club court. Weller's opponent in the titular match will be Glen Maxon, a fellow teammate, who easily triumphed over Benny Harrison in Friday's semi-final round of play.

The Norton-Weller match, viewed from all angles, was one of the most beautiful and phenomenal bits of tennis ever exhibited on any local courts. Norton had a penchant to resort very often exclusively to net work, which factor played a big part in his success early in the match. The greater reserve power of Weller, however, more than offset the sensational playing of Norton early in the match, and he was eventually returned the winner.

Norton took the lead from the jump and maintained an even, though strenuous, pace of play in the first two sets, which he won handily, 8—6, 6—1. In the third set, the Minneapolis star took things easy, recuperating for what he planned to be a final dash for the match in the fourth set. This set, which in reality proved the downfall of Norton, opened with each man winning his own serve. Play continued in this fashion for seventeen games, after which Weller, who then seemed to put more dash and vigor into his play, managed to win his opponent's serve and annexed the set, 10—8. Norton's supreme effort had failed, he had shot his bolt, and the third set easily fell to Weller, 6—2.

KIPPS TO MEET FAST ROCKFORD SEMI-PRO NINE

Lefty Davis Will Take Mound for Local Team Against Rockford Maroons

Smarting from the defeat administered to them last Sunday, the Madison Kipp baseball team has fortified itself by a week of strenuous practice for their game Sunday with the Rockford Maroons. The Maroon team is one of the strongest semi-pro teams in Illinois outside of Chicago and will arrive in Madison tonight with a lineup composed mainly of ex-major and minor league stars.

Left Davis, the star twirler of the Kipps, has been groomed to give the Rockford aggregation the fight of its life. Davis has given some fine exhibitions of pitching this summer and has won the majority of his games. Last Sunday he exhibited remarkable control when his team blew up behind him, and after the practice the team has been through this week there is little danger of another blow-up.

Approximately the same line-up which has represented the Kipps for the last three games will face the Maroons. The game will be called promptly at 2:30, and will be played at Kipp field. A two game series has been scheduled for next week with the Case Eagles of Racine. The Eagles will play here both Saturday and Sunday.

GRAIN SHIFTS DURING WEEK

Wildness of Price Changes Feature Dealings in Trade Board

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO — Wildness of price changes this week on the board of trade have rarely been equaled during any like period. Fluctuations depended on the varying prospects for a new general war outbreak in Europe. Compared with a week ago, wheat this morning was 12½c higher, corn up 3⅜ to 9⅝c, and oats at an advance of 2½ to 4⅜c. Pork and ribs were down 45c to $1.25, but lard showed gains of 17c to 20c.

For the first time since trading was resumed in future deliveries of wheat, speculative dealings broadened out, and despite heavy margins lively purchasing of ten developed based on the chance that war emergencies might bring about enlarged demand from Europe for food supplies. On one occasion within a single hour, prices shot skyward 15 cents a bushel, but excited selling next day led to a smash just as sudden, followed by complete recovery before night and by continued violent swings later in the week. Uneasiness over financial conditions, including breaks in foreign exchange, were largely responsible for such setbacks as did result from news favorable to peace.

Corn and oats, like wheat, reflected the war outlook, but drought developments were also eagerly watched.

European buying strengthened lard. Pork and ribs, however, lacked support.

For Sale or Exchange

Choice Garage Site

I have one of the best business properties in Madison, for sale or exchange—it has a frontage of 132 feet on two of the best business streets in this city. It has a building now on a part of premises which is producing a good income. This is one of the best development propositions I have ever listed and can be purchased at one-half its value—and on terms to suit purchaser—or owner will exchange for farm or vacant lots. If you are looking for a good investment or a future business site don't overlook this. It is absolutely the best proposition I have ever had to offer, and this property is in the center of the most thickly settled parts of Madison, right in business district surrounded by residence district that would support a garage larger than any in Madison at this time. It is an ideal location for a garage or most any kind of business—there is no garage within one mile.

Choice East Side Home

with 14 large lots will sell at sacrifice. You can buy this property for less than cost of building and get 14 choice building lots in the bargain. Owner has left city and wishes to dispose of this property at once. You can buy this property with a small payment down and balance in monthly payments. Act quick, this place will sell quick.

I have $30,000 of gilt edge Real Estate Mortgages ranging from $200 to $3,000 each which I will sell to net purchaser 6 per cent interest. If you have any money to loan I can sell you a first mortgage of most any amount.

I have a long list of exchanges for farms and city property. If you are interested in above bargains or other exchanges consult

THE GOLD DUST TWINS

THIS is to be a campaign of the Gold Dust Twins.

In his speech of acceptance today Gov. Cox, with a few variations, sings the same song of reaction that was given to the country by the republican nominee, Senator Harding.

Cox, like Harding, uses words, words, words and says little that has any meat in it. It is a document that seeks at once to feed honey to progress and reaction; it seeks to promise some action against the present criminal profiteering without scaring those engaged in profiteering; it seeks to express friendliness for labor without offending the exploiter of labor. There is column after column in which Mr. Cox tries to tickle everybody without offending anybody.

Mr. Cox, however, goes the route on one proposition. He swallows hook line and sinker what is left of the defunct Wilson demands on the league of nations.

"I prefer to go in" says Mr. Cox in discussing the league.

He then comes out squarely for the Wilson program and denounces the Lodge reservations. He favors only "interpretative" reservations which, of course, mean nothing.

In assuming the liabilities of the Wilson administration, we believe that Cox has lost whatever chance he had of being elected. His only hope of being elected was in his ability to cut away entirely from the Wilson apron strings and to convince thousands of liberal minded people over the country that the next four years would not see a repetition of the last four years. This Mr. Cox fails to do.

He evidently favors a league which is nothing but an alliance of the international bankers of the world intent on solidifying and consolidating the loot and plunder that France and England obtained out of the war. Any candidate who stands for that sort of a program can never arouse any enthusiasm among men of vision who refuse to distort the ideals of the people of the world into an instrument to be used for the imperialists of the old world.

This campaign will bring discouragement to millions of American people. The two great parties have placed two mediocre men before the people from which they are to choose a president. Both fail to measure up to any degree of statesmanship; both are political trimmers; both indulge in the old time political platitudes that say anything and everything.

Meanwhile the forces that always prey on the people are grinning. Wall street, with the newborn Esch-Cummins baby in its lap, sees no harm coming to its child in the next four years.

This is going to be a great campaign. Money will reign.

The Gold Dust Twins are going to blow paper wads at each other.

ONLY 1800 PER CENT

YOU have read Harding's speech of acceptance and the republican platform.

You have read the democratic platform and today you may read the Cox speech of acceptance.

After you have read the Cox speech, this item from a Chicago paper of yesterday morning ought to be good reading:

"Directors of Morris & Co., packers, are contemplating capitalizing a portion of the company's accumulated surplus by declaring a stock dividend. The company has $3,000,000 of stock outstanding and a surplus of approximately $54,000,000, making possible a stock dividend ranging as high as 1800 per cent."

"Making possible a stock dividend of 1800 per cent!"

Recently Armour and Co. increased their capital stock to $400,000,000. Before the war, the capital stock of Armour and Co. was $20,000,000. The increase in the capitalization to $400,000,000 was paid through the stock dividend route,—out of earnings of the company.

How long can this sort of thing go on in America without something breaking? Millionaires are being made at a criminal rate in the profiteering that is going on in this country.

Look over the speeches of Mr. Harding and Mr. Cox and see what relief is expected in those quarters.

Not one word has been said that is taken seriously by the steel trust, the packing trust and the other monopolies that are levying disgraceful tribute on the American people.

THE POT AND THE KETTLE

THE Lowden crowd in Illinois, in attacking the William Hale Thompson state ticket, saying that Illinois should not allow Tammanyism to get a foothold there. The Thompson machine in Chicago, say the Lowdenites, is an adaptation of Tammany.

Well, the Lowden machine wasn't so slow in the pre-convention days. Remember those $2500 checks? That smacked somewhat of Tammanyism, didn't it?

YAQUI INDIANS TO FIGHT CANTU

MEXICO CITY—Yaqui Indians will, for the most part, make up the force of 3,000 troops to be sent into Lower California to put down the insurrection led by Gov. Cantu, according to reports. Various ships have been chartered to transport the troops and some of the vessels will be armed with cannon.

HARDING'S FRONT PORCH SEES RUSH

MARION, O.—Although more tha na score of delegations had been booked for front porch dates during August and September, Senator Harding and his advisors conferred today to arrange for the reception of still other republican organizations who have asked for appointments.

On The Side

THE CALAMITY HOWLERS

The world is full of trouble and it is upon the brink
Of terrible calamities. We'll all be on the blink,
According to the gloomy folks. They tell us every day
We don't know where we're going,
but we're surely on our way.

The Reds are gaining everywhere,
and we'll be overthrown,
We will not have a government that we can call our own.
The Japs are getting ready to attack us in the east,
Home brew is doomed because there is a scarcity of yeast.

The morals of our ladies are reduced to smithereens,
Immodest gowns are worn by maidens in their teens.
Our colleges and public schools are going straight to smash,
Because we pay the teachers in fair words instead of cash.

Our stage has fallen into a disreputable state,
And Arts and Letters nowadays are meeting this same fate.
We're going to freeze before next spring, yes, each and every one,
For coal is going to set us back just fifty bucks a ton.

The country will be paralyzed by millions out on strike.
The railroads won't be running and we all will have to hike.
At last we're going to find out really
what a famine means,
Because there is a slender crop of carrots and string beans.

The dollar of our fathers is now
such a shrinking thing
It won't be worth a nickel with the coming of the spring.
The rent-hogs are our masters and we cannot raise a bleat,
Within a month or two we'll all be living in the street.

I listened many years to glooms and heard the songs they sang,
But now I sit and smoke my pipe and let 'em all go hang.
The best about our troubles is, it's seldom they come true.
So, never trouble troubles me and trouble troubles you.

I don't believe there is a good watermelon in the world.

I never waste any time looking at the pictures of "beautiful" society women if there is a bunch of pictures of actresses in the same paper.

I think there are enough Americans left in this country to swat bolshevism wherever and whenever he appears.

I think one-piece bathing suits look very well—on some women.

I don't drink beer, ale or light wines. I can't find any.
